ECONOMICS OF LAW PRACTICE IN ARIZONA

ATTORNEY COMPENSATION ► HOURLY BILLING RATES ► LAW SCHOOL DEBTS

State Bar of Arizona

2016 Salary and Economic Survey

The State Bar of Arizona publishes the Economics of Law Practice in Arizona every three years.

MESSAGE FROM THE BAR PRESIDENT

The report answers the frequently asked questions we receive from members:

- What is the average hourly billing rate?
- How much do attorneys earn annually, based on their job classification?
- Is the gender wage gap closing?
- What are the most lucrative practice areas?
- How much law school debt are Arizona lawyers carrying?

The courts often rely on this report as a measure of reasonable billing rates. It has also become an invaluable resource to law firms of all sizes that are looking to evaluate their current business models, expand, or relocate.

This year we chose a new vendor to conduct the survey—Readex Research, an independent company that has produced our Arizona Attorney readership survey on several occasions. Based on their advice, the questions used in this year's survey differ from those in prior editions. This means that the 2016 results cannot always be compared exactly to prior years' results. We hope that these changes, however, make the survey more readable and helpful.

Questions of a general nature and feedback can be emailed to the State Bar at economicreport@azbar.org.

We hope you find this study to be a useful resource.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Lisa Loo'.

Lisa Loo
President, State Bar of Arizona

Typical Hourly Rate and Percentage Charged on a Contingency-Fee Basis

The median hourly rate typically charged by private practice attorneys is $275. As could be expected, the median hourly rate tends to correlate positively with license tenure. Medians span from $226 among those who have been licensed fewer than 5 years up to $350 among those licensed for 40 years or more.

By primary practice area, the highest median hourly rate typically charged, at $312, is found in those whose primary practice area is in personal injury plaintiff; the median drops to $257 among those primarily practicing in defense litigation/civil practice.

Those in Maricopa County reported the highest median hourly rate at $282.

Typical Hourly Rate by Number of Years Licensed and Primary Practice Area

What is your typical hourly rate?
